

Daisy Liang (Canada)
Home: Vancouver, B.C.
Competition Area: Fashion Technology

Daisy Liang is a friendly, out-going individual who values her family and friends. She was first introduced to fashion through a textile course at high school. Now, she is passionate about her chosen career — from the designing to the construction to the merchandising.

Inspired by her mother, Daisy's goal is to strive to be her best. She realized early that in order to achieve this goal, she needed to be very dedicated and be willing to make difficult sacrifices. She has succeeded in finding the right balance and in the process, has also learned that she is a quick learner and very versatile.

At first, she was hesitant to compete in the Regional Skill competition, but after being encouraged by her teacher to participate, she won her first medal. Since then, she has never looked back -competing in the event has opened doors and created many opportunities for her.

All her efforts have led her to represent Canada in Fashion Technology at the 2009 WorldSkills Competition in Calgary. She is eager to participate at the Competition in Calgary and is working very hard to be successful.

"I want to learn more about my trade and I want to learn more about myself. I want to know what my limits are and I hope this Competition will help unravel and determine what I really want in life. I also hope I win a medal."

Daisy loves everything about fashion and hopes her chosen career will enable her to travel the world and meet interesting people. She is currently finishing her final year of high school and is excited to move on to achieve her career goals in the fashion industry.
